The Account List Management System (ALMS) allows a company to organize its information into an inclusive relational database. The ALMS offers organizations a competitive advantage by accessing information on demand, which provides management with...

- Situational Awareness
- Effective Evaluation of Relevant Information
- Well Conceived and Monitored Plans
- Continued Progress In Spite of Market Trends

The ALMS will allow your company to:

- Organize data to facilitate decisions and save time
- Integrate IT software in use by the organization
- Inter-office exchange of data
- Intra-office exchange of data
- Ease of corporate access to data
- Access management performance data, trend analysis, department activity and initiative success
- Centralize relevant contact information
- Develop revenue via information management
- Create a series of fixed and flexible reports that permit effective interpretation of information
- Have productive meetings to create plans, set goals, facilitate accountability and make constructive adjustments
- Have department access data pertinent data
- Have organization wide interface with operations

An ALMS is designed to meet the organization's specific needs.
